A French custard-and-cherry bake with no added sugar at all: ripe banana does the sweetening and ground almonds replace the flour, giving about 9 g of protein and a third of a day's vitamin E a serve.

Diet notes: Low saturated fat (2.1 g, 7% of the energy); DASH-friendly (50 mg sodium a serve).

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Heat the oven to 350 °F and line a small baking dish with baking paper. 2:27
2. Blend or mash the banana until smooth, then mix it with the ground almonds and beat in the eggs, vanilla and milk. 0:02
3. Put the starch in a small bowl and stir in a little of the batter until smooth, then mix it back into the rest so there are no lumps. 1:52
4. Pour the batter into the dish, dot the cherries over it (frozen ones can go straight in) and scatter the flaked almonds on top. 2:37
5. Bake for about 30 minutes, until set and golden. Leave to cool, then dust with a little ground almond instead of icing sugar. 3:04

> Tip Serves 4 (our estimate; the cook doesn't say). Swap the banana for 3 oz unsweetened apple purée, or use any fruit. Plant milk (almond, coconut) works instead of dairy.
