Sea scallops are very lean: four pieces give about 16 g of protein for roughly 120 kcal, with two-thirds of a day's vitamin B12. Scallops are naturally salty and the bacon adds more (about 690 mg sodium a serve), so keep it a party bite.

Diet notes: Carnivore if you leave out the fresh chives; Low carb (3.5 g net carbs) but not keto: 34% of the energy is from fat, and keto meals get about 60% or more.

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Set an oven rack 6 inches (6 in) below the grill (broiler) and heat it to high. Line a broiler pan, or a rimmed tray fitted with a wire rack, with foil. 4:27
2. Cut each bacon slice lengthwise into two thin strips, then cut each strip in half to give 24 short pieces. 1:15
3. Spread the bacon between layers of paper towel on a microwave-safe plate and microwave on high for 1–2 minutes, until some fat has rendered but the bacon is still pliable. 2:26
4. Pull the small tough side muscle off each scallop, then toss the scallops with the salt, pepper and cayenne. 3:32
5. Wrap a piece of bacon around the middle of each scallop, tuck the end underneath and stand them on the rack. 4:56
6. Grill for 3–4 minutes, turning the pan halfway, until the scallops are opaque and the bacon is browned at the edges. Spear each with a toothpick and scatter with the chives. 5:47

> Tip Makes 21–25 pieces; 6 serves of 4 is our estimate. Pre-cooking the bacon in the microwave lets it brown in the few minutes the scallops need. Leave out the chives for strict carnivore.
