Method

TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Heat the oven to 350°F. Grease an 8 inch round cake pan, line the base with baking paper and grease the paper. 1:47
2. Melt the chopped chocolate and coconut oil in a large heatproof bowl over barely simmering water, stirring often. Take the pan off the heat but leave the bowl over the warm water. 2:15
3. Stir in the Swerve, vanilla, espresso powder and salt. Add the eggs and, as the mixture thickens, quickly add the coconut cream; whisk until smooth. Whisk in the cocoa powder until no lumps remain. 2:55
4. Spread in the pan and bake 15–20 minutes, until the edges are set and the centre is barely firm. Don't overbake. Cool 30 minutes, then turn out onto a plate and peel off the paper. 4:49
5. For the glaze, bring the coconut cream to a simmer, take off the heat, add the chopped chocolate and leave 5 minutes. Whisk in the powdered Swerve, allulose and vanilla until smooth. 6:06
6. Let the glaze thicken a few minutes, pour it over the cake and spread with a spatula. Refrigerate 20 minutes to set, then slice with a warm knife. 7:10

> Tip For a dairy version, use melted butter instead of coconut oil and heavy cream instead of coconut cream. Keeps 3 days covered or a week in the fridge. A few fresh berries go well on the side.
