Ingredients 7 · SERVES 4

- [ ] 1 lb minced lamb or beef
- [ ] 2 tbsp ground dried coriander
- [ ] 1 whole head garlic, crushed
- [ ] 1 tsp seven-spice (baharat)
- [ ] 1 tsp salt
- [ ] 2¼ lb frozen green beans, cut into short pieces
- [ ] 2 tbsp tomato paste

Amounts in US units, converted from the cook's and rounded — the video has the originals.

Allergens found in the listed ingredients: none. Worked out from the ingredient list, not tested. Stock, sauces, spice mixes and other packaged foods can contain allergens, so always read the labels on what you buy. If you have a food allergy, don't rely on this.

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Put the minced meat in a pot with the ground coriander, crushed garlic, seven-spice and salt, and fry, breaking it up, until the meat is cooked and starts to brown in its own fat. 0:35
2. Cut the green beans into short pieces; frozen beans are easier to cut while still frozen. 1:07
3. Add the beans to the meat and stir. If the meat is lean and the pan looks dry, add a little oil or fat. Fry, stirring now and then, until the beans soften and change colour. 1:24
4. Pour in as much water as you like for the sauce and stir in the tomato paste. Bring to the boil, then lower the heat. 1:46
5. Simmer until the beans are tender and the sauce has thickened, then serve hot. 2:17

> Tip Serves about 4 (our estimate). In Aleppo it is eaten with vermicelli rice, which the video also shows; skip it or swap in cauliflower rice to keep the carbs low. Fresh beans work too and need a little longer.

The method is a summary in our words, in English — the video (in Arabic) shows every step.
