A light, warming soup: each cup gives about 11 g protein for under 100 kcal. Shirataki noodles stand in for pasta, so a cup has only about 3 g net carbs, while the carrot, celery and onion add vegetables and flavour.

Diet notes: Low carb (3.4 g net carbs) but not keto: 34% of the energy is from fat, and keto meals get about 60% or more; Low saturated fat (0.6 g, 6% of the energy).

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Shred the cooked chicken and set aside. Slice the carrots and celery thinly and dice the onion; mince the garlic. 0:52
2. Warm the olive oil in a large pot over medium heat and cook the carrot, celery and onion, stirring now and then, until soft and translucent. Add the garlic and cook until fragrant. 3:06
3. Pour in the chicken broth and let it simmer while you drain the shirataki noodles and rinse them under hot water for a few minutes (a little salt helps remove any odd smell). 3:51
4. Add the noodles, thyme, oregano, bay leaves and pepper and bring the soup to the boil. 4:52
5. Stir in the chicken and simmer 5–10 minutes more. Remove the bay leaves, season with salt and pepper and serve. 5:22

> Tip Makes about 2.8 L; the cook counts 240 ml as a serve, so have 470 ml for a main meal. Keeps 4 days in the fridge; it freezes best without the noodles, so add fresh shirataki when reheating.
