Allergens found in the listed ingredients: Tree nuts. Worked out from the ingredient list, not tested. Stock, sauces, spice mixes and other packaged foods can contain allergens, so always read the labels on what you buy. If you have a food allergy, don't rely on this.

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Heat the oven to 150°C and spread the raw hazelnuts in a single layer on a baking sheet. 0:30
2. Roast for 10–12 minutes, until they smell toasty and fragrant. 0:47
3. While still hot, tip them into a large jar, seal and shake hard so most of the skins rub off. Pour back onto the tray and pick off any loose skins. 0:55
4. Put the skinned hazelnuts in a food processor and blend for about 10 minutes, scraping down the sides now and then, until you have a runny hazelnut butter. 1:24
5. Add the cocoa powder, confectioners sweetener, a pinch of salt, the vanilla and the MCT oil, and process again until thick, glossy and almost silky. 1:45
6. Scrape into a clean jar and seal. Spread on low-carb toast or wraps, or eat by the spoonful. 2:22

> Tip The cook's written recipe keeps it at room temperature up to 2 weeks, or in the fridge up to a month (it firms up when cold). Macadamia or avocado oil can replace the MCT oil.
