Method

TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Melt the sugar-free chocolate chips in the microwave in short bursts, stirring between each, about 25 seconds in all. Set aside. 0:18
2. Put the powdered sweetener (grind it first if it is lumpy), the cocoa powder and a pinch of salt in a large bowl. 0:50
3. Add the softened (not melted) butter and the boiling water. 1:31
4. Beat with a hand mixer until everything comes together. 2:13
5. Pour in the melted chocolate and whip until smooth and glossy. 2:36
6. Use straight away, or chill for 30 minutes to an hour so it firms up enough to pipe on cakes and cupcakes. 3:01

> Tip Serves are our estimate (the cook gives no yield): roughly enough to frost 12 cupcakes. Dutch-process cocoa gives a deeper flavour. Keep frosted cakes in the fridge.
