Pan-Seared Scallops with Lemon Garlic Sauce

40 min · Serves 4 · 244 kcal a serve · Video 4:50 · Jessica Gavin

Pescatarian · Gluten-free ingredients · No nuts listed

Around 245 kcal and 19 g of protein a serve, and rich in vitamin B12 and selenium from the scallops. The pan sauce uses just 2 tbsp each of butter and cream for four serves.

Diet notes: Low carb (6.5 g net carbs) but not keto: 59% of the energy is from fat, and keto meals get about 60% or more.

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Make a brine: stir the kosher salt into 1 cup hot water until mostly dissolved, then add 4 cups ice. Once cold, add the scallops and leave 10 minutes. 0:56
2. Drain and rinse the scallops, press them very dry between paper towels and rest 10 minutes at room temperature. Season both sides lightly with salt. 1:38
3. Heat the olive oil in a large pan over medium-high heat. Add the scallops in one layer, press gently and leave undisturbed about 3 minutes until golden. 2:26
4. Add the butter and let it melt, then flip the scallops and baste them with it for 1–2 minutes until just firm. Move them to a plate. 2:47
5. Over medium heat, cook the garlic 30 seconds, then add the lemon juice and zest, scraping up the browned bits, for about 1 minute. Off the heat, whisk in the mustard and cream (a splash of water thins it) and season. 3:41
6. Return the scallops to the pan and warm over low heat for 2 minutes. Garnish with dill and black pepper. 4:14

> Tip The cook suggests angel hair pasta and a green salad alongside. Besides the salt, the brine needs only 1 cup hot water and 4 cups ice. Dry the scallops well or they steam instead of browning.
