Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. For the filling, simmer the cherries, 2 tbsp erythritol and lemon juice over medium heat until thick and jammy. Stir in the rum extract and xanthan gum if using, then set aside to cool. 0:17
2. Whisk the eggs with the vanilla, melted coconut oil and almond milk. 1:05
3. In another bowl whisk the cocoa, coconut flour, ½ cup erythritol, baking powder and salt, then stir them into the egg mixture to make a thick batter. 1:38
4. Line a muffin pan with 12 paper cases, divide the batter between them and bake at 350°F for 20–25 minutes. Let them cool. 2:32
5. Cut a small hole in the centre of each cupcake with a round cutter or corer and fill it with the cherry filling. 2:50
6. Whisk the chilled cream with the powdered erythritol and vanilla to stiff peaks. 3:00
7. Pipe the cream over the cupcakes, sprinkle with chocolate shavings and top each with a fresh cherry. 3:30

> Tip Melted butter works instead of coconut oil, as the cook says. Black cocoa gives the darkest colour; regular unsweetened cocoa is fine.
