495 min · plus about 2 hours resting | Serves 14 | 442 kcal a serve | Video 8:49 · HowToBBQRight

Carnivore | Paleo | Gluten-free ingredients | No dairy listed | No nuts listed

Just pork, salt and pepper: one serve gives about 35 g of protein with selenium, zinc and vitamin B12 and no sugar from rubs or sauce, though the salt-and-pepper bark makes it salty.

Diet notes: Keto (0.8 g net carbs a serve).

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Set up a smoker or kettle for indirect cooking at 135°C, adding a few chunks of oak or other hardwood to the hot coals for smoke. 1:47
2. Mix the salt and pepper in a shaker jar and give the pork butt a good, even coat on every side. There is no need to trim much. 0:47
3. Smoke fat-side down for 4–5 hours, without opening the lid, until a dark bark has formed and the centre is about 74–77°C. 2:41
4. Wrap the pork tightly in butcher paper (or foil), return it to the pit with a probe thermometer and cook until the centre reaches 92–93°C, about 2–3 hours more. 3:29
5. Rest it, still wrapped, in a dry esky or cooler for at least 1 hour, ideally 2. Pull out the blade bone and shred the meat by hand, mixing the bark through. 5:00

> Tip Serves about 14 (our estimate from 3.6 kg). We count all 60 ml of salt, so sodium is high (about 1,760 mg a serve); a lighter coat cuts it. In Texas it comes with bread, onion and jalapeños. Freezes well.

The method is a summary in our words — the video shows every step.
