Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Heat the oven to 410°F. Crumple a sheet of baking paper, wet it, wring it out and press it into a 8 inch round cake tin. 8:45
2. Cut the rind off about 3½ oz aged Manchego and grate it or chop it into small pieces. 6:32
3. Warm 1¼ cups heavy cream in a pot over low to medium-low heat, add the cheese and stir until it has melted into the cream (blend it if you want it completely smooth). Take it off the heat. 7:53
4. Whisk in 11 oz cream cheese until smooth, then whisk in the 4 eggs one at a time; adding them last lets the mixture cool a little so they don't cook. 10:46
5. Pour into the tin and bake for 35–40 minutes, checking at 30, until the top is deep brown and the edges are set but the centre still wobbles slightly. Cover with foil if the top darkens too fast. 14:25
6. Cool to room temperature before slicing. Serve at room temperature for a soft centre, or chill it for a denser cheesecake. 15:25

> Tip The cook stirs 1¾ oz erythritol into hers but says it is optional and the cake works with just cheese, cream and eggs, which keeps it carnivore. It is a rich dessert, best kept for occasions.
