Veggie Lentil Cottage Pie with Sweet Potato Mash

120 min · Serves 8 · 546 kcal a serve · Video 6:54 · Chef Tom Kerridge

Vegetarian · No nuts listed

Lentils replace mince and the mash is sweet potato, so each serve gives around 20 g of fibre, about 18 g of plant protein and well over a day's vitamin A (as beta-carotene), with only a little butter and cheese.

Diet notes: Low saturated fat (5.4 g, 9% of the energy); DASH-friendly with less salt: up to a pinch a serve; Gluten-free with a swap: Check that the stock cube is gluten-free.

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Bake the sweet potatoes at 180°C for about an hour until soft. 2:50
2. Meanwhile, heat the oil in a wide, high-sided pan and fry the onion, celery and carrot over high heat, stirring only now and then so they colour. Add the garlic and cook until soft and golden. 0:20
3. Stir in the tomato purée and cook it out, then add the red wine and let it bubble down to a glaze, scraping the bottom of the pan. 1:20
4. Add the chopped tomatoes, stock cube and a splash of water, bring to the boil, then add the mushrooms, bay, thyme, rosemary and lentils. Simmer 25–30 minutes until thick. 2:00
5. Remove the herb stalks and bay leaves, stir in the frozen peas, season, and spread the filling in an ovenproof dish. 4:28
6. Scoop out the sweet potato flesh and mash with a fork with the butter, both mustards and a pinch of salt. Spread over the filling, fork ripples on top, then add the cheddar and smoked paprika. 3:00
7. Bake at 160°C for 45 minutes until hot in the middle and golden on top. 5:45

> Tip Make the filling a day ahead or freeze the assembled pie in portions. For a vegan version, swap the butter for olive oil and leave off the cheese or use a plant-based one.
